The total forest cover of Himachal Pradesh increased nearly by 25 percent and by more than 1000 percent in Lahaul and Spiti district between 1991 and 2015 due to plantations initiatives, according to an analysis report by the State Centre on Climate Change.

Out of a total geographical area of 55, 673 square kilometres, the state has recorded a forest cover of 27.72 percent (15,433.52 square kilometres), according to The State of Forest Report (ISFR), a biennial publication of the Forest Survey of India, released last month.

It is said that 'dense forest cover' in Kinnaur decreased from 565 sq. km to 344 sq. km during this period, a decrease of 39 percent. Hamirpur, Kullu, Shimla and Sirmaur districts also witnessed a declining trend in the dense forest cover. On the other hand, it increased from zero to 47 sq. kms in Lahaul and Spiti and from 164 to 459 sq. km in Solan, while other districts also saw an increasing trend.

Except Una and Kangra districts, the State witnessed an increasing trend of 'open forest cover' with Lahaul and Spiti registering an increase of 770 percent. The total area under scrubs in the State has decreased substantially since 1995 from 1,845 sq kms, the report said.

It further said that as per FSI's data, some of the forest area in Una district was found to be highly vulnerable to forest fires while a substantial area of different forest classes in Sirmaur and Solan districts was also found to be moderately vulnerable to fires due to preponderance of Chir Pine forests in those areas.

The report also said that various broad- leaved species of trees, which are used to produce a tinier quality of fuel and fodder, are facing a decline in area due to "anthropogenic pressure of the forest fringe communities"

Read the following poem and answer the questions that follow by
choosing the correct/most appropriate options:

Look To This Day

Look to this day
For it is life, the very life of life.
In its briefest course
Lie all the verities and realities of your existence
The bliss of growth,
The glory of action,
The splendour of achievement
Are but experiences of time.
For yesterday is but a dream
And tomorrow is only a vision;
And today well lived, makes
Yesterday a dream of happiness
And every tomorrow a vision of hope.
Look well therefore to this day;
Such is the salutation to this ever new dawn.

Read the following poem and answer the questions that follow by
choosing the correct/most appropriate options:

Look To This Day

Look to this day
For it is life, the very life of life.
In its briefest course
Lie all the verities and realities of your existence
The bliss of growth,
The glory of action,
The splendour of achievement
Are but experiences of time.
For yesterday is but a dream
And tomorrow is only a vision;
And today well lived, makes
Yesterday a dream of happiness
And every tomorrow a vision of hope.
Look well therefore to this day;
Such is the salutation to this ever new dawn.
