Uniform Civil Code in Goa

The Parliamentary Panel has highlighted some of the outdated provisions of Goa's uniform civil code.

The Goa Civil Code, a set of civil laws that governs all residents of the coastal State irrespective of their religion and ethnicity, has come under focus amid a call for the implementation of a uniform civil code (UCC) across the country. Goa is the only state with UCC in India.

Uniform Civil Code in Goa

Objections: There were some peculiar clauses in the law related to matrimony and division of property, which were outdated and not based on the principle of equality.

The law also doesn't recognize bigamy or polygamy, including for Muslims but grants an exception to a Hindu man to marry once again if his wife doesn't conceive a child by the age of 21 or a male child by the age of 30.

Uniform Civil Code in Goa

The UCC refers to a common set of laws governing personal matters such as marriage, divorce, adoption, inheritance and succession, that will apply to all citizens irrespective of their religion, caste, and gender.

Article 44 of the Constitution, which is one of the Directive Principles of State Policy, also advocates a uniform civil code.

However, governments since Independence have allowed respective religion-based civil codes to respect the diversity of India.
