

Direction: Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions (Q. Nos. 1 to 5) choosing the correct alternative :

The world owes no man a living but that it owes every man an opportunity to make a living. Whatever man needs, he must acquire through hard work. Nobody can fulfil his wants by the wave of a magic wand. If anyone wants to have anything without undertaking the burden of labour, he has to either live on others' labour or indulge in illegal activities which deserves no dignity at all. For success in life, man has to strike a unique balance between his desires and his achievements. This can be achieved through hard labour, physical or mental. If man is not willing to work or indulges in laziness or gives in to procrastination, he cannot survive in a meaningful way. Unfortunately, the youth of today have little respect for physical work and hanker after white-collar jobs with comfortable work places and fat salaries without making their hands dirty. They should understand the dignity of physical labour. They should keep it in mind that no nation can flourish without the hard physical work done by farmers, miners, and industrial labour who make their living by the sweat of their brow.

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions (Q. Nos. 61 to 64) choosing the correct alternative :

One cannot be truly human and civilized unless one looks upon not only all fellow men but all creation with the eyes of a friend. Throughout India, edicts carved on rocks or iron pillars are reminders that 22 centuries ago Emperor Ashoka defined a King's duty as not merely to protect citizens and punish wrong-doers but also to preserve animal life and forest trees. Ashoka was the first and perhaps the only monarch until very recently to forbid the killing of a large number of species of animals for sport or food. He went further, regretting carnage of his military conquests and enjoining upon his successors to find "their only pleasure in the peace that comes through righteousness".

It is said that in country after country, progress should become synonymous with assault on nature. We, who are a part of nature and dependent on her for every need, speak constantly about "exploiting" nature. When the highest mountain in the world claimed in 1953, Jawaharlal Nehru objected to the phrase "Conquest of Everest" which he thought was arrogant. Is it surprising that this lack of consideration and the constant need to prove one's superiority should be projected on to our treatment of our fellow men.

63. Why did Jawaharlal Nehru object to the phrase "Conquest of Everest" ?

- (A) It speaks of man's cruelty.
- (B) It speaks of man's assault on nature.
- (C) It speaks of man's selfishness.
- (D) It speaks of man's arrogance.

64. How, according to the author, can one be truly human and civilized ?

- (A) If one looks upon his fellow men and all creation as a friend.
- (B) If one looks down upon his fellow men and all creation.
- (C) If one speaks constantly about "exploiting" nature.
- (D) If one projects oneself as superior to all one's fellow men.
