Teachers Day Speech in English

Introduction

Dear teachers, a warm welcome to all of you here. Today I am here to give a speech on Teacher's Day. I would like to begin my speech by thanking all my beloved teachers who have always guided us and given us all their teachings, moral values, and discipline.

As you all know we celebrate Teachers' day in the beloved memory of Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan on his birthday who was the first Vice President of India and the second president of India. He was also a great scholar, an ideal teacher and a recipient of Bharat Ratna. Born September 5, 1988. After becoming President of India, some of his friends and students approached Dr. Radhakrishnan to celebrate his birthday. He replied that it was his privilege to celebrate 5th September as Teachers' Day across India instead of celebrating his birthday on that particular day. It is celebrated to honor our beloved teachers who have nurtured us and prepared us for a brighter future.

Speech Main Content

Teachers are our pillars who play an important role in guiding us through student life. They do their best to teach us valuable life lessons and are our role models to look up to like a potter shapes a pot to make the best as teachers shape the students' lives to create their future. I would like to thank my parents for being my first mentor and teachers for guiding me throughout my journey.

The teacher is not teaching us only in schools or coaching in fact teacher can be any person who guides us giving any moral lesson that can be beneficial for our future. It is said that the future of the country lies in children's hands and the support system for children is teachers only who teach them the true meaning of life.

Teachers' Day is therefore celebrated to honor needs and recognize their special role in our lives. It is a day of excitement, activities, and special performances organized by students, especially teachers. Teacher's Day is celebrated not only in India but around the world to celebrate the power of education. Different countries celebrate this day on different days. But UNESCO officially declared October 5, 1994, as World Teachers Day.

Conclusion

Last but not least, I would like to conclude my speech by thanking you for giving me the opportunity to speak about my beloved teacher on Teacher's Day. I am proud to call myself a student at this institution that has helped me grow into a better person and has given me the passion to learn new things every day.

Teacher's Day Speech in English Sample 1

A very warm Good Morning to one and all present here

Like every year we gather here to celebrate Teacher's Day. Every September 5th is celebrated as Teacher's Day in India to commemorate the birthday of Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan remembered. As a Teacher, Vice President and Second President of India, Dr. RadhaKrishnan has made immeasurable contributions to the country. On this special occasion, I would like to extend my best wishes and greetings to all the teachers gathered here and to all those who have helped me succeed in my studies.

As we all know, it is impossible to define a "teacher". Because teachers don't just teach and guide students, they help them get on the right path. They enhance our character and make us ideal citizens of the country.

Secondly, teachers are our second parents and parents are our first mentors. Teachers play an important role in influencing and inspiring us. All students try to imitate their teachers and see them as role models. Parents and teachers both are responsible for shaping a child's character every step of the way.

Therefore, it is our first and foremost duty to thank our teachers for efforts. Let us take time to pay honour and admire all their contribution in shaping our future. Thank you teachers for your invaluable efforts and guidance at every step.

Teachers Day Speech in English for Students

Good morning to everyone present here!

Respected Principal, teachers, and my dear friends, today, I stand before you to speak about one of the most important and revered days in our lives—Teacher's Day.

Teacher's Day is celebrated every year on the 5th of September, marking the birth anniversary of Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, one of the greatest teachers and philosophers of our nation. It is a day to honor and appreciate the selfless dedication and hard work of our teachers who play a crucial role in shaping our future.

Teachers are the guiding lights that illuminate our path. They not only impart knowledge but also instill values and wisdom in us. They help us grow, encourage us to dream, and push us to achieve those dreams. A teacher's influence extends far beyond the classroom, impacting our lives in ways we may not even realize at the time.

As students, we often forget to express our gratitude, but today, we get the perfect opportunity to say thank you to our teachers. Thank you for your patience, for your guidance, for your constant encouragement, and for believing in us even when we didn't believe in ourselves. You inspire us to strive for excellence, and your dedication to our growth does not go unnoticed.

On this special day, let us take a moment to reflect on the immense contributions of our teachers. They work tirelessly to ensure that we receive the best education and grow up to be responsible citizens. Their role in our lives is invaluable, and we are forever indebted to them.

To all the teachers here, you are the architects of our future. We promise to uphold the values you have instilled in us and to make you proud in every step of our journey. We know that your job is not easy, but please know that your efforts make a world of difference in our lives.

In conclusion, let us all strive to show our appreciation not just on Teacher's Day, but every day, by being diligent students and respectful individuals. Let us work hard, stay curious, and continue to learn—just as our teachers have taught us.

Thank you, and Happy Teacher's Day to all the wonderful teachers out there!
