Global Hunger Index 2023: India's Decline to 111th Place

In the latest Global Hunger Index (GHI) for 2023, India has been ranked 111 out of 125 countries, marking a decline from its 107th position in 2022. The GHI is an annual assessment of hunger levels globally, published by Irish NGO Concern Worldwide and German NGO Welt Hunger Hilfe.

Key Findings of Global Hunger Index 2023

- The GHI 2023 report highlights that India has the highest child wasting rate in the world, standing at 18.7 percent during 2018–22, which signifies acute undernutrition.
- The rate of undernourishment in India is reported at 16.6 percent, and the under-five mortality rate is 3.1 percent.
- The prevalence of anemia among women aged between 15 and 24 years in India is alarmingly high at 58.1 percent.
- India's overall GHI score is 28.7, categorizing the hunger situation in the country as "serious."

Comparison with Neighbors: A Comparative Lens

In comparison to neighboring countries, India's GHI ranking appears stark:

- India: 111th
- Pakistan: 102nd
- Bangladesh: 81st
- Nepal: 69th
- Sri Lanka: 60th

India's ranking pales in comparison to its neighbors, raising concerns about the nation's ability to tackle hunger effectively.

Top and Worst Performers in Global Hunger Index 2023:

- Belarus, Bosnia & Herzegovina, Chile, China and Croatia are the top five countries in GHI 2023.
- Chad, Niger, Lesotho, Congo, Yemen, Madagascar, and Central African Republic are the countries ranked at the bottom of the index.

NSO Released Periodic Labour Force Survey (PLFS) Annual Report 2022-2023

The PLFS (Periodic Labour Force Survey), by the NSO (National Statistical Office), has released its results for the period of April to June 2023. The report indicates a notable decrease in the country's unemployment rate, a rise in the Labor Force Participation Rate (LFPR), and an improvement in the Worker-Population Ratio (WPR).

This survey, which sampled data from 5,639 first-stage sampling units (FSUs) and 1,67,916 individuals across 44,190 urban households, provides valuable insights into the changing dynamics of India's labor market.

Positive Shift in Labor Force Participation

One of the key takeaways from the PLFS is the increase in the Labor Force Participation Rate (LFPR) for individuals aged 15 years and above. In urban areas, the LFPR has risen from 47.5% in April-June 2022 to 48.8% in the same period of 2023. This data reflects a promising trend, indicating growing participation in the labor force.

Gender Disparity in Labor Force Participation

The Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation noted that while the LFPR remained relatively steady at 73.5% for males during this period, there was a notable increase for females, with their LFPR going up from 20.9% to 23.2%.

Worker-Population Ratio on the Rise

The Worker-Population Ratio (WPR) is another important indicator of the health of a nation's labor market. In urban areas, the WPR increased from 43.9% in April-June 2022 to 45.5% in the same months of 2023 for individuals aged 15 years and above.

A Promising Shift in Employment

The rise in WPR signifies a positive trend in the proportion of the working-age population that is employed. The data shows that this improvement was seen in both genders, with the WPR for males increasing from 68.3% to 69.2%, and for females, it rose from 18.9% to 21.1%.

Decreasing Unemployment Rate

Perhaps the most encouraging finding from the PLFS is the decreasing trend in the Unemployment Rate (UR) for individuals aged 15 years and above. In urban areas, the UR decreased from 7.6% in April-June 2022 to 6.6% in the same period of 2023.

Balanced Decline in Unemployment

The report highlights that this decline was observed in both male and female unemployment rates. For males, the UR dropped from 7.1% to 5.9%, while for females, it decreased from 9.5% to 9.1%. This decline in unemployment is a positive sign for the Indian labor market, indicating that more people are finding gainful employment.

Comparing to Pre-Pandemic Levels

The government claims that the improvements in these key labor market indicators in urban areas are not just positive but also surpass pre-pandemic levels. Comparing the data to the period between April-June 2018 and October-December 2019, the LFPR ranged from 46.2% to 47.8%, while in the latest report, it reached 48.8%.

Pre-Pandemic Labor Market Recovery: Robust Gains

Similarly, the WPR was between 41.8% and 44.1% before the pandemic, but now it stands at 45.5%. The Unemployment Rate ranged between 7.8% and 9.7% in the pre-pandemic period, while the latest survey indicates a lower rate of 6.6%. According to the government, this is notably lower than the unemployment rates observed in the quarters covered in the pre-pandemic period.

Indications of Recovery and Growth

The decrease in the unemployment rate, the rise in the Labor Force Participation Rate, and the increase in the Worker-Population Ratio are indicative of an improving job market. Moreover, the government's claim that these indicators have surpassed pre-pandemic levels suggests that India's labor market has not only recovered but is also on a growth trajectory. These trends can be seen as a positive sign for the country's economic stability and the well-being of its citizens.

Global Remote Work Index, India among world's worst countries

In a significant shift in the global remote work landscape, India has been ranked 64th out of 108 countries in the Global Remote Work Index (GRWI). This marks a substantial decline of 15 places from the previous year, raising concerns about the country's readiness for remote work.

Global Remote Work Index (GRWI) Criteria

The GRWI, developed and published by cybersecurity firm NordLayer, evaluates countries based on four fundamental criteria crucial for remote work success:

1. Cyber Safety
2. Economic Safety
3. Digital and Physical Infrastructure
4. Social Safety

India's Weaknesses in Digital and Physical Infrastructure

India's remote work challenges are largely rooted in subpar digital and physical infrastructure. The nation ranked 77th in this category, indicating that its e-infrastructure is among the least developed globally (95th position). India's internet services, although widely available, are plagued by issues of cost (78th) and quality (70th), hampering remote work efficiency.

Social Safety Concerns and Isolation

India's social safety indicators have raised concerns, with the nation appearing to be one of the most isolating countries worldwide. This is attributed to a low personal rights index (88) and an environment lacking inclusiveness (65), which can hinder the remote work experience.

Cyber and Economic Safety at Average Levels

In the domains of cyber safety and economic safety, India's performance remains middling, with rankings of 56 and 55, respectively. While the nation boasts a reasonably robust cyber infrastructure (13th position) and a decent response capacity (19th position), there is room for improvement.

India's Cost-Effective Advantage

Despite its remote work challenges, India remains one of the most cost-effective destinations, with the third-lowest cost of living. However, its healthcare system ranks poorly at 93, potentially impacting the well-being of remote workers.

Top 10 Countries Leading in Remote Work

Meanwhile, The top 10 countries which scored the highest on the Global Remote Work Index (GRWI) are

1. Denmark,
2. Netherlands,
3. Germany,
4. Spain,
5. Sweden,
6. Portugal,
7. Estonia,
8. Lithuania,
9. Ireland, and
10. Slovakia.

Gaganyaan TV-D1 Mission

In a historic moment for India's ambitious human space mission, the Test Vehicle-D1 (TV-D1), designed for the ISRO's Gaganyaan program, successfully took flight from Sriharikota, Island in Andhra Pradesh. The launch, which marked a significant milestone in India's space endeavors, was not without its share of challenges.

Mission Objectives and Significance

The TV-D1 launch aimed to achieve several critical mission objectives, bringing India closer to realizing its dream of sending humans into space. These objectives included:

1. Flight Demonstration and Evaluation of Test Vehicle Subsystems

- The TV-D1 mission allowed for a comprehensive assessment of the various subsystems that make up the test vehicle. This evaluation is crucial in ensuring the safety and reliability of future human spaceflights.

2. Crew Escape System Evaluation

- One of the paramount concerns in human space missions is the safety of the crew in case of an emergency. TV-D1 provided a platform for the evaluation of the Crew Escape System (CES), which encompasses various separation systems to ensure a safe escape for astronauts.

3. Crew Module Characteristics Assessment

- Understanding the characteristics of the Crew Module (CM) is vital for the success of future missions. TV-D1 helped gather critical data about the CM's performance, improving our knowledge of its behavior during the flight.

4. Deceleration System Demonstration at Higher Altitudes

- As missions venture into deeper space, deceleration systems become increasingly important. TV-D1 demonstrated the deceleration system's capabilities at higher altitudes, adding to the knowledge base for future missions.

Technical Challenges and Resilience

The road to this historic launch was not without its share of challenges. Initially scheduled for 8 a.m., the liftoff was postponed due to adverse weather conditions and poor visibility. The delay, however, was not the end of the hurdles. Technical glitches further pushed the launch time, eventually taking place at 10 a.m. These challenges underscore the resilience and determination of India's space program in the face of adversity.

The Test Vehicle-D1 and Its Significance

The TV-D1, a single-stage liquid rocket developed for this critical abort mission, played a pivotal role in simulating an abort scenario during the ascent trajectory. It corresponded to a Mach number of 1.2, mirroring conditions anticipated in the Gaganyaan mission. The payloads onboard included the Crew Module (CM) and Crew Escape Systems (CES) with their fast-acting solid motors, alongside the CM fairing (CMF) and Interface Adapters.

In summary, the successful TV-D1 launch not only signifies a remarkable achievement for India's space program but also reaffirms the nation's commitment to exploring the possibilities of human space travel. As India moves closer to its goal of launching astronauts into space, this mission paves the way for a brighter future in space exploration.

"Vision India@2047: Transforming India into a Developed Nation by 2047"

The Indian government is working on a comprehensive national vision plan, known as 'Vision India@2047', aimed at transforming the country into a developed nation by 2047. The plan is designed to prevent India from falling into the middle-income trap and focuses on various aspects of economic and social development.

Vision India@2047: Key Objectives and Timeline

Growth path

What does the future hold? Scenario building for macroeconomic indicators

Indicator	Units	2030	2040	2047
GDP at current prices	₹ trillion	609.04	1,759.79	3,604.94
Per capita GDP at current prices	₹	4,02,008	10,93,037	21,84,812
Exports	$ trillion	1.58	4.56	8.67
Imports	$ trillion	1.88	5.92	12.12
Investment	₹ trillion	195.5	591.1	1,273.40
Savings	₹ trillion	207.8	649.4	1,339.70

- Objective: The primary objective of the plan is to ensure India's development into a developed nation by 2047 and avoid the middle-income trap, which has affected several countries at similar stages of development.
- Leadership: Niti Aayog, a government think tank, has been working on this plan for nearly two years. It was presented to Cabinet Secretary Rajiv Gauba in October.
- Consultation: In November, consultations will be held with thought leaders, including prominent corporate figures such as Tim Cook, Sundar Pichai, Gautam Adani, Mukesh Ambani, K.M. Birla, N. Chandrasekharan, and Indra Nooyi, to gather their insights and expertise.
- Draft Plan: The draft version of the plan is expected to be ready by December. Several Indian states are also in the process of preparing their own development roadmaps.

Economic Targets

- Economic Growth: The plan envisions making India a $30 trillion economy by 2047, a significant increase from its current economic size. This ambitious goal aims to position India as one of the world's leading economies.
- Per Capita Income: To ensure prosperity for its citizens, the plan targets a per-capita income ranging from $18,000 to $20,000. This represents a substantial increase from the current income levels.

Addressing Middle-Income Trap

- Concern: The plan acknowledges the risk of falling into the middle-income trap, where economic growth slows down significantly after reaching a certain income level. This issue is exemplified by countries like Argentina that have struggled to advance economically.
- Challenges Overcome: India has made progress in addressing longstanding challenges such as poverty, infrastructure development (roads, electricity, and water), and these issues are expected to be resolved in the coming years.
- Next Level: The plan's focus is on propelling India to the next level of development to avoid stagnation in economic growth.

Regional Development and Disparities

- Regional Cleavages: The plan also aims to address regional disparities in economic development. While some parts of India are witnessing rapid growth, others, particularly in the East and North, are lagging behind.

- Balanced Growth: Achieving balanced and inclusive growth across all regions of India is considered crucial for the country's overall development.

Global Dominance in Business

- Global Presence: The plan emphasizes the need for Indian firms to dominate various sectors on the global stage. Despite India's economic growth, none of the world's largest banks, contractors, legal, consultancy, or accountancy firms are from India.
- Promoting Sectors: The plan explores ways to promote certain sectors and companies to become global champions, thereby enhancing India's presence in the global business landscape.

Skill Development and Global Demand

- Skill Sets: Developing the skill sets required by India's young population to meet global demands is a priority. The plan recognizes the need to align educational and training programs with global market requirements.
- Nursing Sector: India's potential to fulfill global demands, such as in the nursing sector, is noted. However, there is a need to ensure that educational institutions meet international standards to facilitate the export of skilled professionals.
