United Nations' Global Stocktake Report

Context: The United Nations' Global Stocktake report was released just ahead of the G-20 meeting.

Key points:

- The United Nations' Global Stocktake report serves as a blueprint for discussions during the Conference of Parties and aims to assess countries' progress in curbing greenhouse gas emissions since 2015.

Global Stocktake Report

Key takeaways from the report:

Takeaways	Details
Positive takeaways
Paris Agreement's Impact:	The Paris Agreement has encouraged widespread climate action worldwide.
Temperature Projection Improvement	Global temperature rise is now expected to be between 2.4-2.6°C, a significant improvement from the earlier projection of 3.7-4.8°C in 2010.
Negative Takeaways
Emission Rate Exceeds Limits	Despite some progress, global emissions are to exceed the limits set in the Paris Agreement
Ambitious Action Needed	Achieving net-zero CO2 emissions requires an 84% reduction in global greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions below 2019 levels by 2050
Deficits in Climate Action	There are shortfalls in various aspects of climate action , including mitigation, adaptation, and finance, indicating the need for more comprehensive efforts.
Key recommendations of the Report
On Mitigation	Inclusive and equitable system transformation for transitioning from fossil fuel-based energy systems to renewable energy sources like solar and wind
Adaptation	Integrate climate change risks into all aspects of planning and implementation. Ensure transparent reporting on adaptation efforts.
Finance Flows	Enhance access to climate finance in developing countries.
